

I am very upset to think that a change in the telephone privacy provision that we have had for the last several months might be taken away. When I work all day I do not want to come home to my phone ringing constantly only to be a telemarketer. I need peace and quiet. I'm sure if the people in authority were home at dinner time and had to answer the phones themselves (instead of paid help) they would feel the same. Do Not Do It!!!!!!!!!!!! We deserve our privacy.
